The Value of Common Salt.
Bane's is necessary in cooking, salt has many uses not so generally recognized. Salt cleans the palate and the cleared tongue, and a salt water gargle is splendid for sore throat. A pinch of salt on the tongue, followed ten minutes later by a drink of cold water, has been known to cure a sick headache many times. Salt hardens the gums, keeps the teeth white and sweetens the breath, consequently it is a splendid tooth wash. Added to water for cut flowers, it will long preserve their freshness. Salted water and alcohol is splendid for strengthening the muscles. It will also check small hemorrhages.

JAP PLAN TOO BOLD

RUSSIANS DO NOT FULLY CREDIT THE REPORTS BROUGHT IN BY THE NATIVES.

WOULD CUT OFF THE SLAVS

TACTICS CREDITED TO OYAMA WOULD ISOLATE GENERAL LINEVITCH'S ARMY.

Gunshu Pass, 108 miles north of Tie pass, April 3.—General Mischenko has moved forward into close touch with the Japanese and keeps up constant skirmishing. General Mischenko, when he learned of the beginning of the panic during the retreat from Mukden, though an unhealed wound forbade his walking, drove in a carriage to his force and assumed command, which he has since retained, but has been unable to ride over the deeply mired roads, which are beginning to dry. Native reports, which may be taken for what they are worth, state that the Japanese are leaving before the Russian front only a screen capable, with the help of the Mukden and Tie pass fortifications and garrisons, of holding in check General Linevitch and are transferring the bulk of their five armies to Vladivostok and by means of a wide movement through Mongolia to Tsitsihar. Considering the great distances involved the plan appears too bold and almost impracticable; but Japanese intonation from continued success, bold initiative and determined perseverance must be regarded. The situation affords an opportunity for Russian cavalry, which thus far has played an insignificant role, to distinguish itself by ascertaining the Japanese intentions.

The plan of the Japanese, if carried out, would isolate the Russian army completely. General Linevitch has ordered the resumption of drills, keeping the soldiers occupied in the day time and music in the bivouacs at night. An energetic regime is being instituted. The soldiers are much attached to their new commander on account of his unaffected, soldierly style of living.

Reports that beri-beri has been prevalent among the Russian troops at any time were unfounded. No case has been reported.

The army is being resupplied with equipment for the summer, which the officers especially need, several regiments during the retreat throwing away all the officers' baggage.

BOLD JAP SCOUTS RETURN.

Rejoin Kuroki's Army After Long and Dangerous Trip.

With General Kuroki's Army in the Field, via Fusan, April 3.—Two detachments of Japanese cavalry have returned to the army after the most extensive and dangerous scouting exploit of the war. The detachments were sent north early in January under the leadership of Colonel Naganuma and Major Sasegawa and numbered 150 men. Only 100 men of each detachment returned. They explored the Russian positions west of Mukden. They encountered and eluded many forces of Russian cavalry and penetrated General Mischenko's line. Then, going northward, they crossed the railroad, cutting the road and the telegraph line during the battle. Afterward they visited Kirin and explored that place and finally returned to the army north of Kalyuan.

JAP SCOUTS ADVANCE.

Collide With Russian Cavalry at Shau-chiengtzu.

Tokio, April 3.—The following official advice has been received from army headquarters in Manchuria: "Our scouts advanced toward Hailung and collided with 300 of the enemy's cavalry at Shau-chiengtzu, thirty miles southwest of Shung, on the morning of March 28. The enemy, 4,000 strong, retreated to Hailung, leaving 2,000 troopers. There are large stores of cereals at various points between Ingsheng and Shau-chiengtzu. Yingcheng is thirty-five miles north of Hiencheng.

"The situation is unchanged in the Chanchun and Kirin directions."

RUSSIANS DESTROY RAILWAY.

Thorough Work Held to Show They Do Not Expect to Win It Back.

London, April 3.—The correspondent at Tokio of the Times says: "Reports from Manchuria show that the Russians are destroying the railway much more thoroughly than hitherto. The evident inference is that they do not contemplate recovering the situation."

"I suffered for months from sore throat. Electric Oil cured me in twenty-four hours." M. S. Gist, Hawesville, Ky.

Says Aggressive Elements of the Party Are Planning Campaign.

Lincoln, Neb., April 3.—"It is a getting together of the aggressive elements of the party in active preliminary work for the great battle," is the way W. J. Bryan explained his recent activity in connection with the reorganization of the Democratic party.

Mr. Bryan returned during the day from Des Moines and it was with particular reference to the meeting held there Saturday night, at which he made the principal address, that he spoke. Mr. Bryan explained that the Des Moines meeting, like the one held at Topeka, Kan., late in February, was to further a movement for organization of Democratic clubs and thereby place the machinery of the party in the hands of those who meant well. In Iowa, he said, the same plan had been adopted as in Kansas, with both of which he was in hearty sympathy.

"Reorganization," continued Mr. Bryan, "is hardly the proper word to express it, because the party does not need reorganization. There is no factional feeling calling for special effort, but the motive is to get back to the people, placing the radical and progressive element in more complete control, that there may be united, harmonious effort for the campaign of 1908. The purpose is to begin at the bottom, letting the rank and file have a voice in the national convention by writing the platform at home for the national convention to ratify."

SECRETARY HAY AT NAPLES.

Declares Trip Has Greatly Improved His Health.

Naples, April 3.—The White Star line steamship Cretic, with Secretary of State John Hay and Mrs. Hay on board, arrived here Sunday after a pleasant voyage. Mr. Hay declares that his health has been greatly improved by the trip, and Mrs. Hay also is enjoying the voyage. During the day Secretary and Mrs. Hay drove about the city and later took luncheon at a hotel on the heights above Naples. They returned to the Cretic late in the afternoon and the vessel sailed for Genoa.

FIVE MINERS KILLED

FATAL EXPLOSION OCCURS IN A

MINE OWNED BY SENATOR CLARK.

Prescott, Ariz., April 3.—As the result of an explosion in the United Verde mine at Jerome, owned by Senator Clark, five men are dead and five others seriously injured.

The accident happened just as the shifts were being changed and all the men except twelve had been raised to the surface. On account of the recent heavy rains surface water found its way to that portion of the mine where fire has been smoldering several years, and steam thus generated caused the explosion, blowing out the bulkheads erected to keep the fire from spreading. The men were suffocated by smoke and heated steam.

HOLDS THE ESTIMATE FALSE.

Rev. Dr. Cladden Talks on Flattery of Generous Robbers.

Columbus, O., April 3.—"Some of the most gigantic robbers that the world has ever known—men who have accumulated hundreds of millions by wicked methods, are by some persons praised and flattered for their liberal gifts to churches and colleges and missions. Such an estimate does not represent the Christianity of today."

This statement was made by the Rev. Dr. Washington Cladden during the course of an address at the First Congregational church. Dr. Cladden said in part:

"The Christian of today is beginning to get a new idea of what it means to carry his religion into his business. He has found out that it signifies an earnest effort to make his business not only a means of gain, but an instrumentality of help and service to all his fellow men."

ENDED IN A GENERAL RIOT.

Slavish Christening Results in Tragedy in Pennsylvania.

Lattrobe, Pa., April 3.—A Slavish christening resulted in a tragedy at Jamison Mine No. 2. M. Kalifosky is dead and several other men are in a critical condition. The festivities started Saturday night and ended Sunday afternoon in a general riot.

BEGINS HIS JOURNEY

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT STARTS ON HIS TRIP TO THE WEST AND SOUTHWEST.

WILL ATTEND THE REUNION

CHIEF EXECUTIVE WILL MEET THE OLD ROUGH RIDERS AT SAN ANTONIO, TEX.

Washington, April 3.—President Roosevelt left Washington during the morning on a long trip to the West and Southwest. He will be absent from the capital for nearly two months. One of the chief objects of the trip, which the president long has had in mind, is the reunion of his Rough Rider regiment of the Spanish-American war, which is to take place at San Antonio, Tex., next Friday and for which an elaborate programme of exercises has been arranged. There will be a number of brief stops en route to San Antonio, where the president will make addresses. Leaving San Antonio there will be a brief stop and address at Fort Worth, which will terminate the public part of the trip, following which the president is to go hunting in the Panhandle of Texas and later in Colorado. All arrangements have been made whereby the president will keep in touch with public affairs both during his railroad ride and while hunting, so that he will be enabled to pass on all matters requiring his attention. The president is looking forward with keen pleasure to his long vacation.

Itinerary Outlined.

The following statement regarding the itinerary of the trip was made public at the White House Sunday night:

"The president will leave Washington Monday April 3, at 9 a. m., over the Pennsylvania railroad. He will be accompanied by Secretary Loeb and Dr. Alexander Lambert, General S. B. M. Young, Lieutenant G. R. Fortescue, Mr. M. C. Latta and Mr. J. L. McGrew, stenographers and representatives of newspaper press associations. The first stop will be made at Louisville at 9 o'clock Tuesday. The president will make an address. The train will leave Louisville at 11 o'clock, pass through St. Louis at 8 p. m., and at that point take the Missouri, Kansas and Texas road for San Antonio. A few short stops will be made in Indian Territory on Wednesday. At Sherman, Tex., where the party will arrive at 4 p. m., the president will leave the train, drive to the public square, and make a brief address. Dallas will be reached at 8:30 p. m., and after a public address the president will attend a dinner.

"The next stop will be at Waco on Thursday, April 6, at 9:30 a. m. The president will speak briefly at Waco. He will reach Austin at 2 p. m. Thursday, address the joint session of the legislature at the capitol, and later speak to the public on the lawn of the capitol.

Will Attend the Reunion.

"The train will reach San Antonio at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, but there will be no public programme until the following morning. The object of the president in visiting San Antonio is to attend the reunion of his regiment. Exercises have been arranged which will fill the entire day, including a review of the regular troops at Fort Sam Houston, a procession in which the Grand Army and Confederate veterans will take part, luncheon at the Rough Riders' camp, and a dinner by the business men's club at Hotel Menger. The president will leave at 11 p. m. for Fort Worth, arriving there the next morning at 9:45 and leaving at 10:45. The programme for Fort Worth will consist of a drive and an address.

"At Fort Worth the public part of the trip will end. The president will spend some days hunting in the Panhandle of Texas, and will then go to Colorado for a hunt of some weeks' duration.

"No plans have yet been made for the return trip to Washington."

AVENGES ALLEGED INSULTS.

Cleveland Man Shoots Two Men Who Insulted His Wife.

Cleveland, O., April 3.—Because of an alleged insult to his wife while he was temporarily absent from her side at night, William Hill shot and instantly killed Ralph M. Lewis and fatally wounded James H. Huff.

The shooting took place while Hill and his wife were boarding a street car. According to the police, Huff and Lewis had made slighting remarks to Mrs. Hill while she was in a restaurant. When her husband returned the couple went to take a street car home. Huff and Lewis were going to take the same car when Hill, it is alleged, pulled a pistol from his pocket and immediately fired upon the two men. Hill was placed under arrest.

Longest Tunnel Opened.

Rome, April 3.—The Simplon tunnel, the longest in the world, was inaugurated Sunday morning, when from the Swiss and Italian sides the first trains passed through, meeting at the center, where there was an iron door which originally prevented the overflow of a torrent of hot water, and which was Sunday opened for the first time.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Another Fatally Injured in Collision of Trains.

Badham, S. C., April 3.—Four men were killed and Freight Engineer Reed was fatally injured during the day in a head-on collision between a through freight and a fast passenger train on the Southern railway. It is asserted that Freight Engineer Reed's watch was thirty minutes slow and that this was the cause of the wreck.

Warrants for Speculators.

Liverpool, April 3.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of A. F. Stephens and A. Henderson of the firm of Stephens & Henderson, cotton speculators, having offices in New York, Kentucky and Havre. It is believed Stephens is in America.

CONFLICT AT WARSAW

FOUR JEWS KILLED AND FORTY OTHERS WOUNDED BY SOLDIERS AND POLICE.

Warsaw, April 3.—A serious conflict occurred at 7:30 p. m. in Dzika street, where a Jewish Socialist society, known as the Buki, had organized a demonstration. The troops were called to disperse the gathering and fired into the crowd, killing four persons and wounding forty others.

The trouble in Dzika street began when, under the pretext of holding a memorial meeting for a late Jewish Socialist leader, a crowd of over 1,000, mostly Jews, carrying red flags, marched into Dzika street and was met by a mixed police and military patrol of twenty men. The police declare the Socialists fired revolvers at them, the leaders inciting the mob to attack the patrol, which thereupon fired several volleys into the crowd. Four men were killed and forty wounded. The crowd removed all but nine of the wounded, two of whom were women. These were taken to the hospital. It is expected that several of the wounded will die. The dead and wounded were all Jews. The police made many arrests.

Other disturbances are reported to have occurred. Conditions here are causing much uneasiness and nervousness. Hand printed proclamations have been found in the streets, warning the public against walking near government buildings and other places, as bombs would be thrown in these places.

Warned to Withdraw Children.

Several parents whose children are attending school in defiance of the school strike, have been warned by letter to withdraw their children, as the school buildings would be blown up. Representatives of the party of violence (it is not quite clear whether they are revolutionists or Socialists) are visiting private persons and levying contributions for "ammunition."

They produce lists of names with the amounts to be collected from each and require their contributor to sign his name opposite these assessments, which range from $2.50 to $50.

When Governor General Maximovitch arrived here ten days ago to assume his official duties, he ordered that the Cossack detachment meeting him at the station be retired, saying he did not require an escort. Driving through the city Sunday, however, the governor general's carriage was surrounded by twenty Cossacks.

The editors of the Polish newspapers here were summoned to the castle during the day. Governor General Maximovitch received each of them separately in the most friendly manner and talked with them on various subjects freely, especially on the question of the censorship. He invited them to come to him in case of any difficulty.

Chronic bronchial troubles and summer coughs can be quickly relieved and cured by Foley's Honey and Tar. H. P. Dunn & Co.

Will Attend the Reunion.

"The train will reach San Antonio at 8:30 p. m. Thursday, but there will be no public programme until the following morning. The object of the president in visiting San Antonio is to attend the reunion of his regiment. Exercises have been arranged which will fill the entire day, including a review of the regular troops at Fort Sam Houston, a procession in which the Grand Army and Confederate veterans will take part, luncheon at the Rough Riders' camp, and a dinner by the business men's club at Hotel Menger. The president will leave at 11 p. m. for Fort Worth, arriving there the next morning at 9:45 and leaving at 10:45. The programme for Fort Worth will consist of a drive and an address.

"At Fort Worth the public part of the trip will end. The president will spend some days hunting in the Panhandle of Texas, and will then go to Colorado for a hunt of some weeks' duration.

"No plans have yet been made for the return trip to Washington."

AVENGES ALLEGED INSULTS.

Cleveland Man Shoots Two Men Who Insulted His Wife.

Cleveland, O., April 3.—Because of an alleged insult to his wife while he was temporarily absent from her side at night, William Hill shot and instantly killed Ralph M. Lewis and fatally wounded James H. Huff.

The shooting took place while Hill and his wife were boarding a street car. According to the police, Huff and Lewis had made slighting remarks to Mrs. Hill while she was in a restaurant. When her husband returned the couple went to take a street car home. Huff and Lewis were going to take the same car when Hill, it is alleged, pulled a pistol from his pocket and immediately fired upon the two men. Hill was placed under arrest.

Longest Tunnel Opened.

Rome, April 3.—The Simplon tunnel, the longest in the world, was inaugurated Sunday morning, when from the Swiss and Italian sides the first trains passed through, meeting at the center, where there was an iron door which originally prevented the overflow of a torrent of hot water, and which was Sunday opened for the first time.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Another Fatally Injured in Collision of Trains.

Badham, S. C., April 3.—Four men were killed and Freight Engineer Reed was fatally injured during the day in a head-on collision between a through freight and a fast passenger train on the Southern railway. It is asserted that Freight Engineer Reed's watch was thirty minutes slow and that this was the cause of the wreck.

Warrants for Speculators.

Liverpool, April 3.—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of A. F. Stephens and A. Henderson of the firm of Stephens & Henderson, cotton speculators, having offices in New York, Kentucky and Havre. It is believed Stephens is in America.

CONFLICT AT WARSAW

FOUR JEWS KILLED AND FORTY OTHERS WOUNDED BY SOLDIERS AND POLICE.

Warsaw, April 3.—A serious conflict occurred at 7:30 p. m. in Dzika street, where a Jewish Socialist society, known as the Buki, had organized a demonstration. The troops were called to disperse the gathering and fired into the crowd, killing four persons and wounding forty others.

The trouble in Dzika street began when, under the pretext of holding a memorial meeting for a late Jewish Socialist leader, a crowd of over 1,000, mostly Jews, carrying red flags, marched into Dzika street and was met by a mixed police and military patrol of twenty men. The police declare the Socialists fired revolvers at them, the leaders inciting the mob to attack the patrol, which thereupon fired several volleys into the crowd. Four men were killed and forty wounded. The crowd removed all but nine of the wounded, two of whom were taken to the hospital. It is expected that several of the wounded will die. The dead and wounded were all Jews. The police made many arrests.

Other disturbances are reported to have occurred.

Conditions here are causing much uneasiness and nervousness. Hand printed proclamations have been found in the streets, warning the public against walking near government buildings and other places, as bombs would be thrown in these places.

Warned to Withdraw Children.

Several parents whose children are attending school in defiance of the school strike, have been warned by letter to withdraw their children, as the school buildings would be blown up. Representatives of the party of violence (it is not quite clear whether they are revolutionists or Socialists) are visiting private persons and levying contributions for "ammunition."

They produce lists of names with the amounts to be collected from each and require their contributor to sign his name opposite these assessments, which range from $2.50 to $50.

When Governor General Maximovich arrived here ten days ago to assume his official duties, he ordered that the Cossack detachment meeting him at the station be retired, saying he did not require an escort. Driving through the city Sunday, however, the governor general's carriage was surrounded by twenty Cossacks.

The editors of the Polish newspapers here were summoned to the castle during the day. Governor General Maximovich received each of them separately in the most friendly manner and talked with them on various subjects freely, especially on the question of the censorship. He invited them to come to him in case of any difficulty.

The Record in Brainerd is a Unique One.

If the reader has a "bad back" or any kidney ailment and is looking for relief and cure, better depend on the only remedy endorsed by people you know. Doan's Kidney Pills relieve quickly—cure permanently. Brainerd citizens testify to this. Here is a case of it:

James Parker, carpenter, of 121 2nd Ave. N. E., Brainerd Minn., says: "Every winter since I had the grippe I was unable to shake off its effects. My back commenced to pain me across the kidneys with a numb sort of aching which I felt always over the same spot even when lying in bed. I was also troubled with headache which I think arose from my kidneys. I got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and used them. Since then I have been in much better health, have no more attacks of headache and no more backache and I regard it as quite wonderful that any remedy could bring about such a change."

On October 15, 1904, six years after Mr. Parker made the above statement, the testimony was confirmed by Mrs. Parker. She said: "Mr. Parker's statement was true in every particular, and we both feel that Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to cure every form of kidney trouble. We are always glad to advise sufferers to go to H. P. Dunn & Co.'s drug store for Doan's Kidney Pills and give them a trial."

William Hauser, of Fargo, who is at the N. P. Sanitarium, where he submitted to an operation some time ago, is so much improved that it is thought he will be able to return to his home in a few days.

Miss Bertha Stadel went to St. Paul today in the interest of the H. F. Michael Co. She will spend the time with an expert corset demonstrator from New York taking special instructions in corset fitting.

Arthur Peterson, a young theological student from the Evansville, Ill., university, has arrived in the city and will assist Rev. N. P. Glemaker this summer in his work in this district. Rev. Mr. Glemaker now has the Little Falls charge as well as Brainerd.

The Riverside Gun club held its weekly shoot yesterday and the following scores were made: F. Walker, 10; Mrs. F. Walker, 8; P. Wolvert, 10; George Sargent, 9; O. Ovig, 7; G. Raymond, 3; Peter Cardel, 8, and A. White, 7. F. Walker and P. Wolvert shot off the tie and Mr. Walker won.

There will be a meeting of the city council this evening and also one of the board of education. Among the important matters at the council meeting will be the election of a fire chief and also the election of an alderman from the Fourth ward to succeed the late Alderman Thos. Murphy.

There will be a meeting of the members of the Brainerd fire department this evening in the central hose house for the purpose of electing a first assistant chief and secretary and a treasurer. The chief will be elected by the council and the second assistant chief will be appointed by the chief.

The remains of Joseph Whitney, the young man who was killed at the pulp mill Friday night, were taken to Fort Ripley and the funeral was held this afternoon at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Whitney. Deputy Coroner Gibson decided that an inquest was not necessary as the evidence was conclusive that death was the result of an accident.

The rain played havoc with the area wall on the east side of the new Wise building on the corner of Front and Sixth streets last night. Every precaution was taken to prevent any damage to this wall by water, but it seems that the heavy rain and the condition of the gutter was the cause of a heavy deluge of water. The entire wall for a length of about fifty feet caved in, causing considerable damage and a large amount of inconvenience.

A letter from Rev. Richard Brown from Congdon, Ore., states that he expects to be home about April 7. He has been holding some special services at Congdon and the following is taken from the Weekly Times of that place: "Rev. Richard Brown, of Minnesota, has been conducting special services in the Congregational church every evening except Saturday. Mr. Brown is a man of pronounced ability and skilled in evangelistic work. He is an interesting and instructive speaker and holds the attention of his audience from start to finish. He will preach tomorrow both morning and evening when it will be announced whether or not he will hold services for another week."

ROLSTON'S UPLIFTING PLAN.

Gives Books to Russian Peasants to Further Self Education.

While the press bears dispatches of the over fresh disasters which the Russians suffer at the hands of their little brown enemies, while the nations watch with anxious interest the ever growing evidences of strife and disorder within the czar's domain, there comes from St. Petersburg news that cheers with its optimistic indication of sanity and hope in the breast of at least one of that disaster ridden people, says a writer in the Metropolitan Magazine.

Count Tolstoi, the apostle of reform and peace for Russia, has taken another step looking to the education of the ignorant masses and has opened in St. Petersburg, with branches throughout the country, stores to supply the schools of the poor people with books at the cost of manufacture. Unable because of his limited means to do more, Tolstoi has perfected a system which, by the expenditure of the large sums of money he has donated, will place in the hands of the utterly ignorant peasants the first rudiments of that education which can effect their uplifting. It is only one of the hundred worthy charities of a grand old man.

Had Russia a few more Tolstois and a few less Von Plehves she might not today be cutting an abject figure before the eyes of the nations.

Naming an Orchid.

The new orchid which recently won the Royal Agricultural society's order of merit for Lord Tankerville is named the "Brasso-cattleya-digbyano-scrodne-tankerville," says the London News. No wonder. Its feelings must be even more poignant than were those of the prehistoric pachyderm, of whom it has been sung:

There once was an ichthyosaurus
Who lived when the earth was all porous,
But he fainted with shame
When he first heard his name,
And he died several ages before us.

Another Tunnel for Switzerland.

The next great tunnel to be dug in Switzerland will probably be through the Wildstrubel. It will connect Bern and Thun with the Valais. A plan has already been submitted to the government.

WILL STUDY FARMING

Vacation Scheme of Chicago Professors and Families.

EXPERT INSTRUCTORS IN CHARGE.

Five Hundred Acres of Land Bought, and There Parents and Children Will Work at Plowing, Harvesting, Milking and "Doing Chores" From June Until Autumn—Betterment of Health an Important Object.

A summer school at which the children may learn the most advanced methods of raising poultry, cattle and pigs and of cultivating the soil while spending their vacation in the open air is the plan which will be put into practice this summer by Professor William Hill, professor of political economy at the University of Chicago; several faculty members of that institution and their families, says the Chicago Tribune.

Beginning with the close of the spring quarter, about June 20, those who are engaged in the experiment will leave Chicago and go to a farm near Wheeling, Ill., where they will spend the summer delving in the soil, tending to the cattle and performing all the "chores" that ordinarily fall to the lot of farmer and farmers' families, combining the pleasures of exercise with practical experience.

The work at real farming will be begun in berry time and will continue through the haying and harvesting season until the crops are all safely stowed away in the barn. Then the urban agriculturists will return to the city, browned by exposures to the summer sun.

The experiment primarily is intended for the benefit of the children. It is a project that long has been discussed in the elementary school of the university. Professor Hill and his family, however, will try the experiment as a private enterprise. Mrs. Hill and her daughter Cecil also will be with the party.

The objects of the school as outlined by Mrs. Hill are five: The cultivation of fields by the best known methods with modern machinery, the raising of shorthorn cattle, the raising of the best breeds of pigs, the raising of the best breeds of chickens and market gardening.

Although there will be some real farmers around the premises to attend to a part of the heavier work, the instruction in all these branches will have to be given by competent teachers, who will have charge of the children and elders who make up the classes.

Plans have been made for the families who will take part in the novel experiment. Five hundred acres have been purchased near Wheeling, about thirty-two miles from Chicago, on which three houses have been erected, two of which have twelve rooms each. It is the idea of Professor Hill to secure if possible from ten to fifteen young people of other families, ranging in age from twelve to eighteen years, to take courses in the new school.

The schedule for the day is to be an arduous one. No drones will be allowed on the "University farm." The morning will be spent in some kind of manual labor, hoeing potatoes, milking the cows, raking hay or tending to the live stock. In the hotter hours of the afternoon the students will devote themselves to the reading of historical or similar educational literature. The evening will be given over to games, music and a review of the work of the day. The members of the school will follow the rule of "early to bed and early to rise," as the betterment of health is not the last nor least important of its objects.

According to the present plans the party will consist of thirteen, but in order to avoid the danger of having an ill omen hanging over his new project Professor Hill is endeavoring to get other families to join in the movement.

Progeny of One Pound of Potatoes.

Campbell Russell, the big cattleman from Hereford, Mo., recently finished planting twenty-five acres of potatoes and says if they do as well as his small garden patch has done in recent years he will have potatoes for the entire Creek nation next year, says the Kansas City Journal. Mr. Russell says: "Ten years ago I received through the United States mail one pound of seed potatoes and haven't bought a potato since. Year by year I planted one acre in potatoes for my home use and the following spring would have wagon loads of them for sale. Last year I planted my regulation acre and gathered in 380 bushels of potatoes. After using them all winter I sold what remained at a net profit of $200. So you see a one acre farm is not so bad and especially when I raised twenty crops in ten years."

Virescent Dream of Spring.

Here is an ideally green clad young man for the season, according to the predictions of the British tailors, says the St. James' Gazette: Olive green Tilly hat, Lincoln green flannel suit (like Robin Hood's archers) with sea green stripes, emerald green tie, pea green striped flannel shirt with collar to match, and sage green socks relieved with pale green spots. The boots would be left to the taste of the wearer, but a green whangee cane would be effective.

Babies and Revivalists.

A baby at Rhos, in Wales, has been christened Revivalist Hughes, says the London Mail. Almost every boy baby born during the last four months in the Rhondda valley, in Wales, has received the name of Evan Roberts.

COLSTON'S UPLIFTING PLAN.

Gives Books to Russian Peasants to Further Self Education.

While the press bears dispatches of the ever fresh disasters which the Russians suffer at the hands of their little brown enemies, while the nations watch with anxious interest the ever growing evidences of strife and disorder within the czar's domain, there comes from St. Petersburg news that cheers with its optimistic indication of sanity and hope in the breast of at least one of that disaster ridden people, says a writer in the Metropolitan Magazine.

Count Tolstoi, the apostle of reform and peace for Russia, has taken another step looking to the education of the ignorant masses and has opened in St. Petersburg, with branches throughout the country, stores to supply the schools of the poor people with books at the cost of manufacture. Unable because of his limited means to do more, Tolstoi has perfected a system which, by the expenditure of the large sums of money he has donated, will place in the hands of the utterly ignorant peasants the first rudiments of that education which can effect their uplifting. It is only one of the hundred worthy charities of a grand old man.

Had Russia a few more Tolstois and a few less Von Plehves she might not today be cutting an abject figure before the eyes of the nations.

Naming an Orchid.

The new orchid which recently won the Royal Agricultural society's order of merit for Lord Tankerville is named the "Brasso-cattleya-digbyano serodrae-tankerville." says the London News. No wonder. Its feelings must be even more poignant than were those of the prehistoric pachyderm, of whom it has been sung:

There once was an ichthyosaurus
Who lived when the earth was all porous,
But he fainted with shame
When he first heard his name,
And he died several ages before us.

WILL STUDY FARMING

Vacation Scheme of Chicago Professors and Families.

EXPERT INSTRUCTORS IN CHARGE.

Five Hundred Acres of Land Bought, and There Parents and Children Will Work at Plowing, Harvesting, Milking and "Doing Chores" From June Until Autumn—Betterment of Health an Important Object.

A summer school at which the children may learn the most advanced methods of raising poultry, cattle and pigs and of cultivating the soil while spending their vacation in the open air is the plan which will be put into practice this summer by Professor William Hill, professor of political economy at the University of Chicago; several faculty members of that institution and their families, says the Chicago Tribune.

Beginning with the close of the spring quarter, about June 20, those who are engaged in the experiment will leave Chicago and go to a farm near Wheeling, Ill., where they will spend the summer delving in the soil, tending to the cattle and performing all the "chores" that ordinarily fall to the lot of farmer and farmers' families, combining the pleasures of exercise with practical experience.

The work at real farming will be begun in berry time and will continue through the haying and harvesting season until the crops are all safely stowed away in the barn. Then the urban agriculturists will return to the city, browned by exposures to the summer sun.

The experiment primarily is intended for the benefit of the children. It is a project that long has been discussed in the elementary school of the university. Professor Hill and his family, however, will try the experiment as a private enterprise. Mrs. Hill and her daughter Cecil also will be with the party.

The objects of the school as outlined by Mrs. Hill are five: The cultivation of fields by the best known methods with modern machinery, the raising of shorthorn cattle, the raising of the best varieties of pigs, the raising of the best breeds of chickens and market gardening.

Although there will be some real farmers around the premises to attend to a part of the heavier work, the instruction in all these branches will have to be given by competent teachers, who will have charge of the children and elders who make up the classes.

Plans have been made for the families who will take part in the novel experiment. Five hundred acres have been purchased near Wheeling, about thirty-two miles from Chicago, on which three houses have been erected, two of which have twelve rooms each. It is the idea of Professor Hill to secure if possible from ten to fifteen young people of other families, ranging in age from twelve to eighteen years, to take courses in the new school.

The schedule for the day is to be an arduous one. No drones will be allowed on the "University farm." The morning will be spent in some kind of manual labor, hoeing potatoes, milking the cows, raking hay or tending to the live stock. In the hotter hours of the afternoon the students will devote themselves to the reading of historical or similar educational literature. The evening will be given over to games, music and a review of the work of the day. The members of the school will follow the rule of "early to bed and early to rise," as the betterment of health is not the last nor least important of its objects.

According to the present plans the party will consist of thirteen, but in order to avoid the danger of having an ill omen hanging over his new project Professor Hill is endeavoring to get other families to join in the movement.

Progeny of One Pound of Potatoes.

Campbell Russell, the big cattleman from Hereford, Mo., recently finished planting twenty-five acres of potatoes and says if they do as well as his small garden patch has done in recent years he will have potatoes for the entire Creek nation next year, says the Kansas City Journal. Mr. Russell says: "Ten years ago I received through the United States mail one pound of seed potatoes and haven't bought a potato since. Year by year I planted one acre in potatoes for my home use and the following spring would have wagon loads of them for sale. Last year I planted my regular acre and gathered in 380 bushels of potatoes. After using them all winter I sold what remained at a net profit of $200. So you see a one acre farm is not so bad and especially when I raised twenty crops in ten years."

Virescent Dream of Spring.

Here is an ideally green clad young man for the season, according to the predictions of the British tailors, says the St. James' Gazette: Olive green Tilly hat, Lincoln green flannel suit (like Robin Hood's archers) with sea green stripes, emerald green tie, pea green striped flannel shirt with collar to match, and sage green socks relieved with pale green spots. The boots would be left to the taste of the wearer, but a green whangee cane would be effective.

Babies and Revivalists.

A baby at Rhos, in Wales, has been christened Revivalist Hughes, says the London Mail. Almost every boy baby born during the last four months in the Rhondda valley, in Wales, has received the name of Evan Roberts.

Three Roses and Another

By JOANNA SINGLE

Dr. John Dunham knew what he did not want. He could also instantly recognize what he did want when he saw it. These traits had been of use to him in working his way through college, through medical school after that and into a flourishing practice now two years old.

In love as in business it was the same, only the girls he had thus far met were undoubtedly the ones he did not want. Dr. John's black gray eyes were always on the silent quest of an unknown girl the thought of whom he linked with the thought of roses. She did not appear. He was thirty-two and beginning to think he had missed her and was deciding to devote his spare time entirely to rose culture when the no longer expected happened.

In September he went, with a colleague, Frederick Mayne, M. D., to a medical convention in St. Louis. Seated at the formal banquet, he looked up, just across the table, at her! And then he seemed to have always known that she was small and blond, with the sweet delicacy of a pink tea rose, that her head was poised like a flower and that breeding and courage showed in every feature and gesture.

Instantly the thought of her as his mounted to his head like wine, and his look met hers with an intensity that made her eyes droop. He turned coolly to Mayne beside him and said in a low tone:

"Look carefully at this ring on my finger, and don't glare up. I want to ask a question. Who is she?"

Strangely enough, Mayne knew who "she" was.

"Dean Carroll's daughter, Rose," he replied. Then as they both looked up carelessly he continued, "I may as well tell you that I shall try to get her." Choking back a senseless anger, trying to realize that Mayne had as good a right to want her as he, Dunham answered quietly:

"And I may as well tell you that you have me to work against. I shall do my best."

At the reception following John Dunham accosted his old professor, Dean Carroll, shook hands and asked:

"Doctor, please introduce me to your daughter."

"Certainly, my boy—with pleasure. But"—and the old man laughed—"I warn you!"

"It's everlastingly too late, doctor. All I ask of you is not to tell her I wanted to meet her and—not to praise me to her." The serious eyes of the young man checked the old man's smile.

"Upon my soul! I believe you're in earnest!"

"I warn you that I am." Dean Carroll looked Dr. John Dunham over carefully from head to foot. Then he held out his hand.

"I wish you luck," he said slowly. "You're as open now as you were during the four years I knew you at college and in your success since. Your tactics are worthy of a general and victory." Come along. But perhaps you'd like me first to suggest to her that you're a dangerous character?" John laughed contentedly.

"Better than an encomium." Rose Carroll met her father's old pupil none the less graciously because he was tall and strong and because the heavy, dark hair framing his handsome face was touched with gray. In fact, he was so interesting that she met him with an armor of protective resistance beneath her graciousness. She was used to easy victories over her admirers, but not anxious, though she was on the alert, for her own Waterloo. There was time enough for that.

John began well. While deferential, he was not adoring; while entirely appreciative, he was not insistent in his enjoyment of her society, which he accepted with a sort of seemingly transient spirit of camaraderie that piqued her a little. Several times during the evening he drifted carelessly back near her and watched with amusement Mayne's breakneck endeavor to make use of his time to impress his rather ponderous personality upon the girl. Dunham asked permission to call next day.

He did call and was carelessly entertaining. He let himself go, showing his real self, speaking of his youthful adventures in the west, of his roses at home and leaving a sort of an impression that he was a man into whose life women had entered little and that they were to him a sort of pleasant relaxation from workaday cares.

Rose found herself putting forth unusual efforts to please this man, who was not, as others, apparently in the least subjugated by her charms. He did not stay long, but as he arose to go he unwrapped a long, slender parcel he had been holding, crushed the tissue paper in his fingers and put one perfect white rose into her hand. He laughed down into her eyes.

"I wanted to give you a red one, only"—The significance of his tone and his hesitation made her rise to his throat.

"Only you didn't dare!" she finished for him.

"Oh, I dared," he replied coolly, "but I thought I wouldn't—yet! The best for the last, you know?" And he left her trying to decide whether he meant anything or nothing. As he went out he met Mayne entering with a large florist's box, and during his call he had learned that she was leaving the next day for home. When he reached his office he looked up the northbound trains.

Next morning at 7:55 he walked up to the station. Just around the corner on the platform he saw Rose Carroll smiling at Mayne, who carried her suit case and a great bunch of pink carnations. Before they saw him he stopped back into the waiting room, bought a ticket to the next town north and kept out of sight until the train came in. He swung on the rear platform, while Mayne, triumphant in his moment of favor, put the lady into a seat and bestowed her luggage about her. As the train pulled out Dunham looked from his window in the smoker and beheld the idiotically adoring face of Mayne, who was waving his farewell.

When he had smoked a long black cigar John Dunham sauntered into the next car. About the middle of the aisle he stopped suddenly at a quick exclamation:

"Why, Mr. Dunham?" He looked down and saw, with apparent surprise, Rose Carroll, blushing and smiling. He removed his hat, but made no effort to take the seat which she had cleared for him beside her.

"Miss Carroll! So this is your train—how pleasant! Lovely day, isn't it?" "Won't you sit down?" she asked, a little timidly. And he did and went on talking so carelessly and yet so meaningfully, so brightly and still so seriously, that it seemed to her but a moment or two before he looked from the window and stood up. Drawing a slender parcel from his pocket, he unwrapped a single, long stemmed pink rose.

"I must get off here in order to get back to an important case with your father. I only got on to tell you goodbye. Don't want to interfere with Mayne at the station. I can't compete with this floral generosity," and he laid the rose in her lap, "but this is to remind you that some day I shall bring you that red rose." He was gone, without touching her hand in farewell. She sat gasping—pleased, astonished, half angry, but completely interested. She looked at the pink rose. Then she tossed the carnations from the window and wondered how in the world John Dunham had managed to obtain her promise to answer his letters.

Thereafter Dunham wrote her—regularly, but when the fancy seemed to seize him—whimsical, vigorous, joyful, masculine letters, wholly free from all lovelornness. She answered, and sometimes when he was very busy he called her up on the long distance phone in lieu of a letter. Meantime Mayne had sent bushels of flowers, had written ponderously sentimental epistles and heaved many ponderous sighs. Twice he had gone to see his divinity, and on his last call her lack of interest in his elaborate mention of Dunham raised suspicion in his slow but relentlessly logical mind. On his return he sauntered into Dunham's office.

"Morning, old man."

"Morning, Mayne. Enjoy your visit?" How the deuce did Dunham know he'd been away? Mayne hazarded a guess.

"Yes, called on Miss Carroll. Write to her, don't you?" Taken off guard, Dunham admitted the soft impeachment and was instantly sorry. Mayne laughed with unctuous amusement.

"Thought you were too astute for that. Bet she's got you going—has me! Stringing you for all she's worth! Practiced hand! Great girl—no end popular. Knows how to do it, Miss Carroll." Dunham's anger rose, but he answered carelessly:

"Look to yourself, Mayne. Guess I can take care of Johnny." But after Mayne went the tide of his anger surged toward Rose Carroll. When he could stand it no longer he went to the phone, closing the door of the inner office, and called up St. Louis and Miss Carroll. After an hour's delay he got her and went straight to the point.

"That you, Miss Carroll? Know who this is? Yes! Lovely spring day! I want to ask you something. Forgive my bluntness, but I must know. Miss Carroll, in your letters and all have you meant everything or have you been playing with me?" A long pause, while he listened intently.

"No, I did not think so—I simply asked. I have not the time nor the temper to play. You will forgive me for asking you? No, I can't tell you what made me think of such a thing. Yes, some day I will. Certainly I believe you! What? May I? May I come this week? Of course I want to! But I can't reach you till Saturday evening and will have to start back Sunday morning. It's a long way, and connections are bad. All right—goodbye—till Saturday!"

At 4 in the afternoon of June 1 John Dunham stepped from his train at St. Louis and went to a hotel to get rid of his travel stains and appease his hunger.

About 7 he emerged faultlessly attired, visited a florist and took a cab to Dean Carroll's stately old home.

Rose came to him in the dim candle-light of the library, a vision in shimmering gray. He had intended meeting her in his usual easy way, but the clamor of his heart and the wine of a certain proud yielding in the glance of her blue eyes swept him into speechlessness. He stood long looking at her, her hand still in his. Then he dropped the small hand back at her side and strode out into the hall.

In a moment he came back and clasped her warm little fingers about the stem of a glowing red rose.

"The red rose," he said simply—"the time for it is now, isn't it?" he questioned quietly, stepping back with his arms straight at his side to look at her. "Isn't it time, dear?" he insisted.

"Yes," she murmured. "—And as she did not finish, with a sudden longing he held out both his hands to her. "Will you come, Rose?" With the pride of a small queen, Rose Carroll laid her two hands in his.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS

The world is full of women whose daily life is one long struggle against diseases peculiar to their sex—whose days and nights are full of quiet, patient suffering. The head the seat of pain and pressure—the result of nerve depression and physical weakness brought on by uterine or ovarian trouble—the nerves on edge—inclined to laugh or cry at anything—an ever present dragging in the back, hips and limbs—a feeling of utter weariness—lassitude and despondency. To these people Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are of incomparable value, having as they do the power to rebuild, to reinvigorate and resupply every organ, every nerve, every muscle with the lost energy, and to insure a complete return to health, strength and vigor again.

Mrs. John Bailey of Jackson St., Penn Yan, N. Y., says:

"I was told that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were a great nerve medicine, and as I needed one badly, I got a box. My nerves were very weak—I lacked ambition and strength and my heart action was very weak. I used the pills as directed and they made my nerves quiet and steady—the heart action strong and regular and the appetite good, my sleep became restful and I feel altogether like another person. I think as a remedy in female complaints as well, they are grand, curing the headaches and heavy, dragging feeling rapidly and easily—this I know from experience, and I am glad to recommend them." 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. Concerning Subscriptions.

There seems to be a misapprehension on the part of some as regards the subscription rates on THE DAILY DISPATCH. The rate of $4 a year or $1 for three months, is an advance rate and placed thereon in order to save the expense of collection and avoid the loss of accounts. Some, however, seem to think that they can pay at the end of the year and are then entitled to the paper for $1. A moment's thought will show that such a course is simply putting a premium on not paying and would if permitted result in the loss to us of many accounts of nearly or quite a year each. Parties wishing the yearly rate must pay in advance or promptly on the presentation of account by the collector. If

At the reception following John Dunham accosted his old professor, Dean Carroll, shook hands and asked:

"Doctor, please introduce me to your daughter."

"Certainly, my boy—with pleasure. But"—and the old man laughed—"I warn you!"

"It's everlastingly too late, doctor. All I ask of you is not to tell her I wanted to meet her—and not to praise me to her." The serious eyes of the young man checked the old man's smile.

"Upon my soul! I believe you're in earnest!"

"I warn you that I am." Dean Carroll looked Dr. John Dunham over carefully from head to foot. Then he held out his hands.

"I wish you luck," he said slowly. "You're as open now as you were during the four years I knew you at college and in your success since. Your tactics are worthy of a general and victory." Come along. But perhaps you'd like me first to suggest to her that you're a dangerous character?" John laughed contentedly.

"Better that than encomiums." Rose Carroll met her father's old pupil none the less graciously because he was tall and strong and because the heavy, dark hair framing his handsome face was touched with gray. In fact, he was so interesting that she met him with an armor of protective resistance beneath her graciousness. She was used to easy victories over her admirers, but not anxious, though she was on the alert, for her own Waterloo. There was time enough for that.

John began well. While deferential, he was not adoring; while entirely appreciative, he was not insistent in his enjoyment of her society, which he accepted with a sort of seemingly transient spirit of camaraderie that piqued her a little. Several times during the evening he drifted carelessly back near her and watched with amusement Mayne's breakneck endeavor to make use of his time to impress his rather ponderous personality upon the girl. Dunham asked permission to call next day.

He did call and was carelessly entertaining. He let himself go, showing his real self, speaking of his youthful adventures in the west, of his roses at home and leaving a sort of an impression that he was a man into whose life women had entered little and that they were to him a sort of pleasant relaxation from workaday cares.

Rose found herself putting forth unusual efforts to please this man, who was not, as others, apparently in the least subjugated by her charms. He did not stay long, but as he arose to go he unwrapped a long, slender parcel he had been holding, crushed the tissue paper in his fingers and put one perfect white rose into her hand. He laughed down into her eyes.

"I wanted to give you a red one, only"—The significance of his tone and his hesitation made her rise to his throat.

"Only you didn't dare!" she finished for him.

"Oh, I dared," he replied coolly, "but I thought I wouldn't—yet! The best for the last, you know?" And he left her trying to decide whether he meant anything or nothing. As he went out he met Mayne entering with a large florist's box, and during his call he had learned that she was leaving the next day for home. When he reached his office he looked up the northbound trains.

Next morning at 7.55 he walked up to the station. Just around the corner on the platform he saw Rose Carroll smiling at Mayne, who carried her suit case and a great bunch of pink carnations. Before they saw him he stepped back into the waiting room, bought a ticket to the next town north and kept out of sight until the train came in. He swung on the rear platform, while Mayne, triumphant in his moment of favor, put the lady into a seat and bestowed her luggage about her. As the train pulled out Dunham looked from his window in the smoker and beheld the idiotically adoring face of Mayne, who was waving his farewell.

When he had smoked a long black cigar John Dunham sauntered into the next car. About the middle of the aisle he stopped suddenly at a quick exclamation:

"Why, Mr. Dunham?"

He looked down and saw, with apparent surprise, Rose Carroll, blushing and smiling. He removed his hat, but made no effort to take the seat which she had cleared for him beside her.

"Miss Carroll! So this is your train—how pleasant! Lovely day, isn't it?" "Won't you sit down?" she asked, a little timidly. And he did and went on talking so carelessly and yet so meaningfully, so brightly and still so seriously, that it seemed to her but a moment or two before he looked from the window and stood up. Drawing a slender parcel from his pocket, he unwrapped a single, long stemmed pink rose.

"I must get off here in order to get back to an important case with your father. I only got on to tell you goodby. Didn't want to interfere with Mayne at the station. I can't compete with this floral generosity," and he laid the rose in her lap, "but this is to remind you that some day I shall bring you that red rose." He was gone, without touching her hand in farewell. She sat gasping—pleased, astonished, half angry, but completely interested. She looked at the pink rose. Then she tossed the carnations from the window and wondered how in the world John Dunham had managed to obtain her promise to answer his letters.

Thereafter Dunham wrote her—not regularly, but when the fancy seemed to seize him—whimsical, vigorous, joyful, masculine letters, wholesomely free from all loveliness. She answered, and sometimes when he was very busy he called her up on the long distance phone in lieu of a letter. Meantime Mayne had sent bushels of flowers, had written ponderously sentimental epistles and heaved many ponderous sighs. Twice he had gone to see his divinity, and on his last call her lack of interest in his elaborate mention of Dunham raised suspicion in his slow but relentlessly logical mind. On his return he sauntered into Dunham's office.

"Morning, old man."

"Morning, Mayne. Enjoy your visit?" How the deuce did Dunham know he'd been away? Mayne hazarded a guess.

"Yes, called on Miss Carroll. Write to her, don't you?" Taken off guard, Dunham admitted the soft impeachment and was instantly sorry. Mayne laughed with unctuous amusement.

"Thought you were too astute for that. Bet she's got you going—hasn't she? Stringing you for all she's worth! Practiced hand! Great girl—no end popular. Knows how to do it, Miss Carroll." Dunham's anger rose, but he answered carelessly:

"Look to yourself, Mayne. Guess I can take care of Johnny." But after Mayne went the tide of his anger surged toward Rose Carroll. When he could stand it no longer he went to the phone, closing the door of the inner office, and called up St. Louis and Miss Carroll. After an hour's delay he got her and went straight to the point.

"That you, Miss Carroll? Know who this is? Yes! Lovely spring day! I want to ask you something. Forgive my bluntness, but I must know. Miss Carroll, in your letters and all have you meant everything or have you been playing with me?" A long pause, while he listened intently.

"No, I did not think so—I simply asked. I have not the time nor the temper to play. You will forgive me for asking you? No, I can't tell you what made me think of such a thing. Yes, some day I will. Certainly I believe you! What? May I? May I come this week? Of course I want to! But I can't reach you till Saturday evening and will have to start back Sunday morning. It's a long way, and connections are bad. All right—goodby—till Saturday!"

At 4 in the afternoon of June 1 John Dunham stepped from his train at St. Louis and went to a hotel to get rid of his travel stains and appease his hunger.

About 7 he emerged faultlessly attired, visited a florist and took a cab to Dean Carroll's stately old home.

Rose came to him in the dim candle-light of the library, a vision in shimmering gray. He had intended meeting her in his usual easy way, but the clamor of his heart and the wine of a certain proud yielding in the glance of her blue eyes swept him into speechlessness. He stood long looking at her, her hand still in his. Then he dropped the small hand back at her side and strode out into the hall.

In a moment he came back and clasped her warm little fingers about the stem of a glowing red rose.

"The red rose," he said simply—"the time for it is now, isn't it?" he questioned quietly, stepping back with his arms straight at his side to look at her. "Isn't it time, dear?" he insisted.

"Yes," she murmured. "I"—And as she did not finish, with a sudden longing he held out both his hands to her. "Will you come, Rose?" With the pride of a small queen, Rose Carroll laid her two hands in his.

NOGI'S LETTER TO A BOY.

Japanese General Thanks Chicago Lad For His Sympathy.

Alfred R. Cahn of Chicago, a small boy in knickerbockers, has been following war developments with much interest, says a Chicago dispatch. When he learned that General Nogi lost two sons at Port Arthur he wrote the warrior a letter of sympathy. The other day he received a letter in Japanese from the general. General Nogi's letter translated reads:

Dear Sir—I thank you for your kindness. February 15, Liaoyang.

M. NOGI.

Alvin R. Cahn, Chicago, U. S. A.

The letter is signed in English script and shows that the general spells his name Nogi.

Weak, Nervous, Worn Out Women

Bloodless, Irritable, Despondent Women. Subject to All Sorts and Varieties of Nervous Troubles. Find a Positive Cure in

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS

The world is full of women whose daily life is one long struggle against diseases peculiar to their sex—whose days and nights are full of quiet, patient suffering. The head the seat of pain and pressure—the result of nerve depression and physical weakness brought on by uterine or ovarian trouble—the nerves on edge—inclined to laugh or cry at anything—an ever present dragging in the back, hips and limbs—a feeling of utter weariness—lassitude and despondency. To these people Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills are of incomparable value, having as they do the power to rebuild, to reinvigorate and resupply every organ, every nerve, every muscle with the lost energy, and to insure a complete return to health, strength and vigor again.

Mrs. John Bailey of Jackson St., Penn Yan, N. Y., says:

"I was told that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were a great nerve medicine, and as I needed one badly, I got a box. My nerves were very weak—I lacked ambition and strength and my heart action was very weak. I used the pills as directed and they made my nerves quiet and steady—the heart action strong and regular and the appetite good, my sleep became restful and I feel altogether like another person. I think as a remedy in female complaints as well, they are grand, curing the headaches and heavy, dragging feeling rapidly and easily—this I know from experience, and I am glad to recommend them." 50c a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., on every package.

Concerning Subscriptions.

There seems to be a misapprehension on the part of some as regards the subscription rates on THE DAILY DISPATCH. The rate of $4 a year or $1 for three months, is an advance rate and placed thereon in order to save the expense of collection and avoid the loss of accounts. Some, however, seem to think that they can pay at the end of the year and are then entitled to the paper for $4. A moment's thought will show that such a course is simply putting a premium on not paying and would if permitted result in the loss to us of many accounts of nearly or quite a year each. Parties wishing the yearly rate must pay in advance or promptly on the presentation of account by the collector. If

PRATSE FOR OUR MORALS

Higher In America Than In Europe, Says James Bryce.

DECLARES BUSINESS IS KING HERE

English Historian Finds the United States Leads in Condition of the People—Absence of Pauperism Remarkable, He Says — Universities Rank With Europe's Best—Growth of Aesthetic Sentiment Noted.

The Right Hon. James Bryce, the English historian and parliamentarian who a quarter of a century ago visited America and produced as a result of his study of America and her institutions that remarkable work, "The American Commonwealth," again visited America a short time ago, and now in a recent issue of the Outlook he sums up the changes which have taken place since his visit in 1883. What will appeal to most readers most strongly is what Mr. Bryce has to say on American morals.

"The general moral standard of the United States," he writes, "still appears to me, as it did twenty years ago, to be, on the whole, higher than that of western Europe. Even in the wealthiest class, where luxury weakens the sense of duty and lays men and women most open to temptation, there are apparently fewer scandals than the same class shows elsewhere.

"Nor is the morality of any country to be measured by the number of divorces. Its condition may be really worse if people cynically abstain from obtaining divorces where there are grounds for obtaining them.

"That which most strikes the visitor to America today," he writes, "is its prodigious material development. Industrial growth, swift thirty or forty years ago, advances more swiftly now. The rural districts are being studded with villages, the villages are growing into cities, the cities are stretching out long arms o suburbs, which follow the lines of road and railway in every direction.

"The increase of wealth, even more remarkable than the increase of population, impresses a European more deeply now than ever before because the contrast with Europe is greater. In America every class seems rich in comparison with the corresponding class in the old world. The huge fortunes, the fortunes of those whose income reaches or exceeds $1,000,000 a year, are of course far more numerous than in any other country.

"But the absence of pauperism is still more remarkable. In 1870 I carefully examined the poor law system of two great eastern cities and found that, although there were very few persons needing or receiving support at public expense, the number was expected to grow steadily and quickly as the cities grew. Today I am told that in these cities pauperism, though of course absolutely larger, increases more slowly than population.

"Business is king," Mr. Bryce observes a little further along. And he continues.

"With this extraordinary material development it is natural that, in the United States, business—that is to say, industry, commerce and finance—should have more and more come to overshadow and dwarf all other interests, all other occupations. Every European who visited the country since the beginning of the last century seems to have been struck by this fact. It is more striking now than it was thirty-five years ago. But the contrast with Europe is not greater now than it was then. Rather is it less, for in this respect England and Germany have been following in America's footsteps.

Mr. Bryce also makes this observation with regard to the trend of the population of the country:

"They are ceasing to be a folk of country dwellers. It is not only that the greater cities extend themselves with amazing speed and that many of the mineral areas are becoming so covered with villages as to differ little from cities—there is a general disposition to migrate from rural districts to centers of population, where a brisker life and more amusements can be enjoyed. The change is all the more remarkable because agriculture continues to be prosperous."

Mr. Bryce also notes a decided improvement in our educational facilities. "There has been within these last thirty-five years," he writes, "a development of the higher education in the United States perhaps without a parallel in the world. Roughly speaking—for it is impossible to speak with exactness—America has now not less than fifteen or perhaps even twenty seats of learning fit to be ranked beside the universities of Germany, France and England as respects the completeness of the instruction which they provide and the thoroughness at which they aim.

"The improvement in the range and quality of university teaching is a change scarcely more remarkable than the increased afflux of students, and whereas in England the vast majority of students go to prepare themselves for some profession—law, journalism, medicine, engineering or the ministry of the Established church—there is in America a considerable proportion (in one institution I heard it reckoned at a third or more) who intend to choose a business career, such as manufactures or banking or commerce or railroading.

"Among the minor changes which the traveler notes he must not forget the growth of what may be called aesthetic sentiment. The desire to have beauty around one, to adorn the house within and without the grounds, if not new, has developed apace since 1870."

No matter how long you have had the cough; if it hasn't already developed into consumption Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will cure it.

THE SLUMP IN POETRY.

Reasons For It as Stated by Edward Markham and Joaquin Miller.

The Critic for March publishes a second installment of letters from poets who have been approached with the question as to what has caused "the slump in poetry." Rhymers, like doctors, it seems, do not agree, says the New York Post. Thus Mr. Edwin Markham, despite "The Man With the Hoe," recognizes and deprecates the slump. "The reason why poetry nowadays," he says, "is attracting so little attention lies both in our people and in our poets; since the days of Pab-Hotep, the old Egyptian, the people have gravitated toward business more than toward beauty," which may be very true. But why Pab-Hotep? Now hear the lusty singer of the Sierras, Mr. Joaquin Miller, in rebuttal. And probably half the people who smile at his words secretly believe them true:

"But back of all this I am glad to believe that America has outgrown what the learned laureate of good King Edward calls 'the higher forms of poetry' as she has outgrown kings and courts. The real American loves poetry, but it must be real. It must be natural and not nasty. Poetry is clean, concrete truth. But what truth is there in 'Paradise Lost'? A monstrous and merciless God, an idiotic and mouthing devil, in an impossible heaven and hell! There is more real poetry in a little book by Thomas Bailey Aldrich than in Milton, Dante and Homer all put together. I repeat, poetry is only a higher and finer form of truth; nature—plain common sense.

"Shakespeare is a little better and a deal worse. Not content with making a slaughter house and madhouse of the stage, he must make it a graveyard and dig up dead men and make rude jests over their bones in his very best poem. This is not art; it is not decency."

CUTS HIS WIFE'S THROAT.

Pittsburg Man Then Ends His Own Life With a Razor.

Pittsburg, April 3.—John C. Walton killed his wife at night by cutting her throat with a razor, and then, after cutting his own throat, walked to the office of a physician 300 yards distant and expired, just as police officers were about to place him under arrest.

The couple were married about ten years ago and had four children.

About two years ago Mrs. Walton left her husband but was reconciled through the good offices of her mother, Mrs. Hackett. A bitter quarrel several months ago brought about another separation, Mrs. Walton and children returning to her mother's home.

When Walton's eight-year-old daughter Bessie answered the bell to let the father in the house at night he was heard to kiss the little one and send her for her mother, Mrs. Walton, fearing no trouble, went to meet her husband. In about five minutes a shriek from the woman brought the family to the dining room where they found Mrs. Walton lying on a couch with her head almost severed from her body.

WILL RETURN INDICTMENTS.

That Belief Prevails in Chicago Regarding the Grand Jury.

Chicago, April 3.—Well authenticated reports that the federal grand jury which is investigating the business methods of the meat packers will return indictments when it reconvenes next Wednesday are prevalent here.

The report is that the adjournment Saturday was really decided upon to allow Assistant Attorney General Page time to draw up the bills at his leisure and give due consideration to the mass of testimony gathered since the jury went into session.

VERDICT OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Returned by Jury Against a Montana Woman.

Butte, Mont., April 3.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Morrison, charged with the murder of Richard Finnegan near this city on June 23, 1904, brought in a verdict of manslaughter during the day and recommended that she be sentenced to serve three years in the state penitentiary at Deer Lodge.

May Have Been a Blind Man.

St. Paul, April 3.—Frank Goffin, twenty-seven years, a blind man, is now believed by the police to be the man who leaped from the Wabasha street bridge, a distance of ninety feet, into the river Friday afternoon. Joseph Kovotsch, the Austrian, at first thought to have jumped from the bridge, is still alive. Frank Goffin has been missing from home since Friday morning.

TELEGRAPHIC BREVITIES.

Hans Christian Anderson's centenary is being celebrated throughout Denmark under royal patronage.

Mary Harmel, aged thirty-two, was struck by a Rock Island southbound train at Faribault, Minn., Sunday and instantly killed.

At Lancaster, Pa., Ralph Kline, twenty-six years old, an attorney, was fatally stabbed during a quarrel by Jennie Good, aged eighteen.

Otto Wonderly, the well known jockey, who was thrown from a horse at Montgomery park at Memphis, Tenn., Saturday, died Sunday night.

President William F. Potter of the Long Island railroad, who had been ill about one month with cerebro spinal meningitis, died Sunday at New York.

JOHN S. LONG.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, the Great Neurologist, Warns Americans Who Neglect Their Nerves.

"In busy centers the number of deaths due to nervous causes has increased twenty per cent in forty years. One-fourth of the deaths in cities to-day are from nervous diseases."—Dr. S. Weir Mitchell.

The clean, rich nerve-force that was behind the health and happiness of thousands upon thousands is literally burning itself up like the dry wick of an empty lamp. It is the "Strenuous Life," with a vengeance.

Can men who go to their work in the morning tired and with lax spirits give to their own affairs the electric touch of confidence and power upon which success depends?

Can mothers worn out and nervous, plodding dully or ill-tempered through the routine of homekeeping, bring into the family life that precious spirit of hopefulness and happiness without which the word "home" seems a mockery?

When you feel exhausted—when you grow tired sooner than you should—when you lose patience with the irritating cares of daily life—when you feel discouraged—when you feel that your hopes and ambitions are not as high as they used to be—when you spend a sleepless night—when you get up almost as weary as when you went to bed—when you are worried.

These are all signs that your nerve forces are burning low.

Neglect the nerves and they will make you feel this neglect in many ways, they control all of the organs of the body and must be kept healthy and strong to do their work properly. Tired nerves cannot keep the organs of the body working in that harmony which is essential to real health.

This is why Paine's Celery Compound is able to bring health in so many different forms. Paine's Celery Compound feeds and nourishes the nerves. It makes new Nerve Force. It makes pure, rich blood, a clean active liver, a stomach that acts quietly and strongly upon all the food that is given to it, bowels that throw away promptly and surely all the ashes from life's engine room.

It makes the heart beat true and evenly, it makes the brain clear and vigorous.

The Nerve Force does this all, and Paine's Celery Compound makes the Nerve Force.

Best of all it makes that buoyant life-spirit, the thrill of health, that is the secret of happiness and the keynote of individual success.

Without Nerve Force there can be no health at all—no success—no joy in living.

John S. Long's case is simply one of thousands upon thousands. An average case and an object lesson to the average person.

"For nervousness and stomach troubles Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine. I was almost a physical wreck when I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound, and now I am as healthy as any man in the world, and I owe it all to Paine's Celery Compound. The first bottle I took helped me wonderfully, and by the time the second was used I was a well man, and I can cheerfully recommend it to any one as being the best medicine I have ever used."

—John S. Long, Ballard, Wash.

Try Paine's Celery Compound to-day. It braces you up at once.

Take two days' treatment. See how much better you feel. See how much more easily the trials roll away.

For over 18 years Paine's Celery Compound has been the most universally used nerve vitalizer and tonic in the world.

Remember this—Paine's Celery Compound is the prescription of one of the most famous physicians this country has ever known, Prof. E. E. Phelps, of Dartmouth University. All reputable druggists recommend and sell Paine's Celery Compound.

A Speaking Postal Card.

Postmasters of the Bill Nye type may soon be unable to read the postal cards passing through their hands unless they have a phonograph equipment in the office, if the latest development of the post card announced in Vienna meets popular favor, says the Chicago Tribune. An ingenious Teuton, who has invented a speaking postal card, plans to spread a thin layer of gramophone "plaque" on an ordinary postal card. To this the sender confides his communication, and the card goes through the post in the usual way. Arrived at its destination, the card is made to deliver its message by means of a special photograph apparatus constructed by the inventor of the new card.

Auto Car For Street Cleaning.

A remarkable motor car that looks somewhat like a huge mowing and reaping machine and which, in fact, is a reaper was recently completed at a Hartford factory, says the Boston Journal. It is a street sweeper and gleaner and if it does what is claimed for it should be of much interest to city officials. The machine will, it is said, travel a city street at four miles an hour and as it moves first sprinkles the pavement and then by means of rotary brushes removes all dirt and debris and empties it into a large tank that is a part of the machine. A feature claimed to have been worked out is that it will pick up solid objects, such as bricks, and at the same time brush up the finest dust.

We Offer $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquezone Can't Kill.

On every bottle of Liquezone we offer $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. We do this to assure you that Liquezone does kill germs. And it is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease. It is this fact which gives Liquezone its worth to humanity; a worth so great that, after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, we paid $100,000 for the American rights. And we have spent over one million dollars, in one year, to buy the first bottle and give it free to each sick one who would try it.

Acts Like Oxygen.

Liquezone is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. This process has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is an absolutely certain germicide. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquezone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

Liquezone goes into the stomach, into the bowels and into the blood, to go wherever the blood goes. No germ can escape it and none can resist it. The results are inevitable, for a germ disease must end when the germs are killed. Then Liquezone, acting as a wonderful tonic, quickly restores a condition of perfect health. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquezone, and it cures diseases which medicine never cures. Half the people you meet—wherever you are—can tell you of cures that were made by it.

Germ Diseases.

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquezone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

MISS JESSICA O'BRIEN

Clever Pianist Will be Heard in Recital Tomorrow Night at First Congregational Church

The following is taken from the Pioneer Press regarding Miss Jessica O'Brien who will be heard in this city tomorrow night at the First Congregational church in a piano recital under the auspices of the Brainerd Ladies' Musical Club:

"Miss Jessica O'Brien gave an invitation recital last night at St. Agatha's conservatory. The program offered the gifted artist's friends of St. Agatha's an evening of rare pleasure.

"Miss O'Brien, though a pupil of the master who taught Ignace Paderewski, is quite unlike the Polish pianist, except in the famous Leschetizky essentials—the beautiful singing tone, perfect rhythm and pedaling. Her touch and temperament remind one more of Pachmann and the scale of her dynamics is more nearly within the range of the Russian.

"It is a rare pleasure to hear this young pianist, who is undoubtedly destined for a great career, in her earlier appearances. She is fresh from the studio, and—though a Vienna student is well equipped with recital experiences—there has been nothing as yet to rub the perfect bloom off her faith in art as an avenue to the public heart. Then, too, this player, with the touch of velvet and the artist nature of lovely calm and splendid storms, has already developed a fine individuality in her art."

It is understood that one of the important matters to be considered at the meeting of the city council tonight will be the feasibility of providing Brainerd with a fire warden or inspector. There are two or three business men interesting themselves in the matter and they will appear before the council tonight to discuss the matter.

A large number of fires in the city during the past few years, it is claimed, could have been averted if the buildings were gone over and inspected by one who is thoroughly capable and all conditions which are considered detrimental to the building removed, speaking from the standpoint of safety from fire. The fire Sunday morning in the Opsahl building is pointed to as an instance where there was need of an inspector. It is not permissible under any circumstances to hang electric wires promiscuously about the buildings where they might set the building on fire if they ever burned out. TWO FIRES SUNDAY MORNING

Opsahl Building on Seventh Street Has a Close Call, Fire Having Caught in the Basement.

The fire department was called out twice Sunday morning and it was the fire laddies' "busy day." The first call came from East Brainerd fire having been discovered about 12 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Emord on Elm street. The fire started while there was no one at home and no one is able to tell what the origin was. The department made a good run and excellent work was done by the fire fighters after they got there, but the home, which was a small story and a half building, was entirely destroyed with all its contents. It is understood that Mr. Emord carried ample insurance to cover the loss.

What might have been a serious conflagration was averted by the timely work of the firemen in the Opsahl building at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Fire was discovered issuing from the west window of the basement on the north side of the building and smoke seemed to be pouring out of every crevice in the building and it looked bad. By the use of the basement nozzle, however, the fire was confined to the basement and the building and the contents were saved. The store room is occupied by McCarthy & Donahue and the damage to the clothing will be entirely from smoke. The firm of McCarthy & Donahue carries $11,000 insurance and Alderman Opsahl carries $5,000 on the building. The fire caught from a common electric wire which was hung over a nail in a beam in the basement. The wire burned in two and set fire to the wood work.

ST. CLOUD-BRAINERD IS WELL PROVIDED

Chairman W. J. Price, of Schedule Committee of Northern League, in the City

SCHEDULE WILL SOON BE READY

St. Cloud and Brainerd Will Fare Well on Holiday Games in League Schedule.

Chairman W. J. Price, of the schedule committee of the Northern League, spent Sunday in the city in consultation with Manager M. J. Reilly, of the St. Cloud-Brainerd team. Mr. Price is part owner of the Fargo franchise and has been prominent in Northern League circles since its inception.

He stated while here that the schedule committee had about decided on the dates for the league this season and the schedule will be ready for publication in a short time. Under the arrangement in a short time. Under the arrangement both St. Cloud and Brainerd will fare well on holiday games. It is known positively that there will be games here and at St. Cloud on Decoration Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day. Then, too, both cities will have opening dates. The six teams in the Northern League will get away from under the wire about as follows: The season will open in Brainerd on May 18, when the Duluth team will be here. The Duluth team will play here the 18th and 19th and then go to St. Cloud for two games, May 20 and 21. St. Cloud-Brainerd gets another opening date at Crookston on May 22. Fargo will open on May 18 at Fargo with Crookston, and Grand Forks opens May 18 at Winnipeg. The opening date at Grand Forks will be May 22 with Fargo. The opening date at Duluth will not be until June 1, when Winnipeg plays there.

Mr. Price is very much enthused over the prospects this season. He says that under the new arrangement of things the Northern League towns will see better baseball than they did last year.

The Northern Baseball league has been undergoing a rehabilitation process during the past few months, and April 1 the six teams of the league, Winnipeg, Duluth, Grand Forks, Fargo, Crookston and St. Cloud-Brainerd deposited the $500 in cash necessary to comply with the new constitution adopted several weeks ago. This new constitution has some entirely new features, and if all the provisions are lived up to there is little question but baseball can be made profitable, rather than a means for sinking from $5,000 to $10,000 annually as has been the case in the past.

Vegetarianism and Victory.

"I confess," said Dr. Dobbs in the London Argus, "that the victories of the vegetarian Japanese, though not strict vegetarians, for they take eggs, milk and fish, have led me to reconsider my faith as to the necessity for meat. We cannot say it is difference of climate with them, for they have fought and conquered in all climates. We cannot hold that it has retarded intellectual growth, for the pygmy has turned giant in their case. We have a good deal to learn from Japan, as she has a good deal to learn from us. But she selects; she does not copy mistakes and so does not yet see a reason to eat meat."

CREATORE AND HIS BAND TONIGHT.

Those in Brainerd who have never had the opportunity to hear Creatore and his Italian band in their own city, should, and doubtless will, take advantage of their appearance at the Brainerd opera house, tonight.

Creatore and his band of selected musicians will be assisted by the Neapolitan harpist.

Creatore comes to the Great West flushed with recent musical triumphs in the east. Among these should be mentioned his victory at Canton, Ohio, the home of the late President McKinley, where no fewer than three thousand persons attended the concert. Creatore took Canton completely by storm. His rendition of "Nearer My God to Thee," one of President McKinley's favorite hymns, was, in itself, a revelation, and brought forth a perfect storm of applause.

It has frequently happened that many who have endeavored to attend Creatore's concerts have been turned away for lack of even standing room. It is to be hoped that this exigency will be precluded, on his appearance here, by the cautiousness of those who intend availing themselves of the privilege of hearing Creatore and his band. Seats now selling at Dunn's.

"HAPPY HOOLIGAN."

Happy Hooligan will be presented here on April 7, at the Brainerd opera house. This is one of Gus Hill's greatest successes. It is composed of bright vocal and musical numbers. The costumes are good and the show girls are said to be a bevy of artists, who are noted for their beauty. The seats will be on sale Thursday morning.

TWO FIRES SUNDAY MORNING

Opsahl Building on Seventh Street Has a Close Call, Fire Having Caught in the Basement.

The fire department was called out twice Sunday morning and it was the fire ladders "busy day." The first call came from East Brainerd fire having been discovered about 12 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Emord on Elm street. The fire started while there was no one at home and no one is able to tell what the origin was. The department made a good run and excellent work was done by the fire fighters after they got there, but the home, which was a small story and a half building, was entirely destroyed with all its contents. It is understood that Mr. Emord carried ample insurance to cover the loss.

What might have been a serious conflagration was averted by the timely work of the firemen in the Opsahl building at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Fire was discovered issuing from the west window of the basement on the north side of the building and smoke seemed to be pouring out of every crevice in the building and it looked bad. By the use of the basement nozzle, however, the fire was confined to the basement and the building and the contents were saved. The store room is occupied by McCarthy & Donahue and the damage to the clothing will be entirely from smoke. The firm of McCarthy & Donahue carries $11,000 insurance and Alderman Opsahl carries $5,000 on the building. The fire caught from a common electric wire which was hung over a nail in a beam in the basement. The wire burned in two and set fire to the wood work.

ST. CLOUD-BRAINERD IS WELL PROVIDED

Chairman W. J. Price, of Schedule Committee of Northern League, in the City

SCHEDULE WILL SOON BE READY

St. Cloud and Brainerd Will Fare Well on Holiday Games in League Schedule.

Chairman W. J. Price, of the schedule committee of the Northern League, spent Sunday in the city in consultation with Manager M. J. Reilly, of the St. Cloud-Brainerd team. Mr. Price is part owner of the Fargo franchise and has been prominent in Northern League circles since its inception.

He stated while here that the schedule committee had about decided on the dates for the league this season and the schedule will be ready for publication in a short time. Under the arrangement both St. Cloud and Brainerd will fare well on holiday games. It is known positively that there will be games here and at St. Cloud on Decoration Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day. Then, too, both cities will have opening dates. The six teams in the Northern League will get away from under the wire about as follows: The season will open in Brainerd on May 18, when the Duluth team will be here. The Duluth team will play here the 18th and 19th and then go to St. Cloud for two games, May 20 and 21. St. Cloud-Brainerd gets another opening date at Crookston on May 22. Fargo will open on May 18 at Fargo with Crookston, and Grand Forks opens May 18 at Winnipeg. The opening date at Grand Forks will be May 22 with Fargo. The opening date at Duluth will not be before June 1, when Winnipeg plays there.

Mr. Price is very much enthused over the prospects this season. He says that under the new arrangement of things the Northern League towns will see better baseball than they did last year.

The Northern Baseball league has been undergoing a rehabilitation process during the past few months, and April 1 the six teams of the league, Winnipeg, Duluth, Grand Forks, Fargo, Crookston and St. Cloud-Brainerd deposited the $500 in cash necessary to comply with the new constitution adopted several weeks ago. This new constitution has some entirely new features, and if all the provisions are lived up to there is little question but baseball can be made profitable, rather than a means for sinking from $5,000 to $10,000 annually as has been the case in the past.

Vegetarianism and Victory.

"I confess," said Dr. Dobbs in the London Argus, "that the victories of the vegetarian Japanese, though not strict vegetarians, for they take eggs, milk and fish, have led me to reconsider my faith as to the necessity for meat. We cannot say it is difference of climate with them, for they have fought and conquered in all climates. We cannot hold that it has retarded intellectual growth, for the pygmy has turned giant in their case. We have a good deal to learn from Japan, as she has a good deal to learn from us. But she selects; she does not copy mistakes and so does not yet see a reason to eat meat."

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

CREATORE AND HIS BAND TONIGHT.

Those in Brainerd who have never had the opportunity to hear Creatore and his Italian band in their own city, should, and doubtless will, take advantage of their appearance at the Brainerd opera house, tonight.

Creatore and his band of selected musicians will be assisted by the Neapolitan harpist.

Creatore comes to the Great West flushed with recent musical triumphs in the east. Among these should be mentioned his victory at Canton, Ohio, the home of the late President McKinley, where no fewer than three thousand persons attended the concert. Creatore took Canton completely by storm. His rendition of "Nearer My God to Thee," one of President McKinley's favorite hymns, was, in itself, a revelation, and brought forth a perfect storm of applause.

It has frequently happened that many who have endeavored to attend Creatore's concerts have been turned away for lack of even standing room. It is to be hoped that this exigency will be precluded, on his appearance here, by the cautiousness of those who intend availing themselves of the privilege of hearing Creatore and his band. Seats now selling at Dunn's.

"HAPPY HOOLIGAN."

Happy Hooligan will be presented here on April 7, at the Brainerd opera house. This is one of Gus Hill's greatest successes. It is composed of bright vocal and musical numbers. The costumes are good and the show girls are said to be a bevy of artists, who are noted for their beauty. The seats will be on sale Thursday morning.

Colic? Maybe its appendicitis? Give him a dose of Dr. Adler's Treatment. No need to worry then. Cures and prevents appendicitis. Better have a bottle in the house. For sale at Johnson's Pharmacy. 25716

BENNETT FOR CHIEF

More Than Likely That Present Incumbent of Position of Chief of Fire Department Will be Retained

It is more than likely that Chief A. H. Bennett will be elected to succeed himself as chief of the fire department at the meeting of the city council to be held this evening in chambers. So far as known there are no other candidates for the position.

The Wrestling Match

Two big giants, Chas. Moth and L. D. Spaulding, will engage in a wrestling match at Gardner hall on Wednesday evening of this week. Spaulding is from Butte and has a record back of him and Moth is well known in the city. It will be three out of five falls. A large platform which was erected for the boxing exhibition will be used and the accommodations are therefore of the very best.

SENDS IN RESIGNATION

FEDERAL POSTAL INSPECTOR
HOLDEN DECIDES TO QUIT
THE SERVICE.

ADMITS HE WAS INDISCREET

ACCEPTED LOAN FROM CONCERN
WHOSE METHODS HE WAS INVESTIGATING.

Philadelphia, April 3.—George C. Holden, the inspector in the United States postal service attached to the inspection division, who Saturday admitted that the Storey Cotton company, most of whose officers are fugitives from justice, advanced $1,100 to him as a loan for a few days, has sent his resignation to Washington. Holden declared that he received the money and paid it back a few days later without any understanding or agreement with the Storey Cotton company that he was to protect the company against investigation by the postoffice department. He, however, admitted that in accepting the loan from the company he was indiscreet and thought it best in view of the revelations in the case to send his resignation to the postal authorities.

The discovery that Holden had received a loan from the Storey Cotton company was made Thursday but not made public until Saturday night. A record of the loan was found while Assistant District Attorneys Stuart and Swartley of this city were making an examination of the defaulting officers for the purpose of gathering further evidence against Stanley Francis, who is under arrest charged with being an officer of the concern. The loan was entered in the general cash book and read:

"April 29, 1902.—George Holden $1,100."

Holden Greatly Surprised.

When the entry was shown Holden he was greatly surprised to find that it had been entered on the books. His explanation at the time was that it was a personal loan from E. E. Storey.

He believes, he said, that the loan was placed on the books to do him injury. Since the loan was made, he says, he has sent three separate reports to Washington recommending that fraud orders be issued against the Storey concern.

The matter of the loan was immediately reported to W. W. Dickson, inspector in charge of the local division, who in turn communicated the facts to the chief inspector at Washington.

By direction of Postmaster General Cortelyou Inspector Mayer of the New York division has been sent to this city and is making an investigation of Holden's connection with the Storey Cotton company.

The Philadelphia Record says that Inspector Holden declares that Harrison J. Barrett, formerly of the department of justice, Washington, and nephew of the late James T. Barrett, who was involved in the postoffice scandals, was the attorney for the Storey Cotton company while he was actually connected with the department of justice.

Asked if it was true, as Holden contends, that Barrett was responsible for the failure of the postoffice department to issue a fraud order against the Storey company, and that he was his lawyer, United States Assistant District Attorney Stuart said:

"I can only say the investigation into the Storey affairs and the discovery of certain papers seems to partially bear out that contention. I know what he got."

PROMINENT MAN MISSING

Supposed to Have Fallen From a Ferry and Drowned.

Algona, Wis., April 3.—Edward Decker, Jr., of this city mysteriously disappeared while en route from Ludington to Manitowoc Saturday night on Pere Marquette ferry No. 18. It is supposed he was accidentally drowned. The last seen of Mr. Decker was when the boat was about fifteen or twenty miles out of port. He complained of sick headache, took a powder to relieve him and retired to his stateroom. Charles Zohau, his companion on the trip, on going to the smoking room as the boat neared Manitowoc, attempted to call Mr. Decker, but receiving no response, called the steward and entering the stateroom found Mr. Decker's hat, cuffs and grip but no trace of Mr. Decker. It is presumed that he stepped to the boat's rail to obtain fresh air and, becoming faint, fell overboard and was drowned.

Mr. Decker practically was the head of the Decker financial interests in this region, which consist of some eight banking houses and two newspapers, the Green Bay Advocate and the Algona Record, several manufacturing concerns and railroad interests. He was thirty-four years old and had held a number of offices.

BLOWN FROM RIVER BOTTOM

Richard Creedon's Remarkable Escape From Brooklyn Tunnel.

Richard Creedon, who was recently blown from the heading of the Brooklyn tunnel under the East river, describes his experiences as follows, says the New York World:

Well, if I hadn't known how to swim I wouldn't be here now. I got these cuts and bruises from the timbers falling around me. I thought everything was over with me, but then I thought I'd make a fight for it. So I pushed the timbers away and went through the hole as fast as I could. Yes, it seemed like a hundred years to me. It's a long way through twenty-five feet of water for a man who's out of breath pulling timbers away.

It was 8 o'clock when we went into the tunnel, and it wasn't twenty minutes before the blowout came. There were five of us in the heading, Jack Sheehy and I on the "apron." The apron is a platform for the men to reach the upper part of the shield. The shield is fifteen and a half feet high and has doors for digging, and the apron stands about half as high. Our heads were about two feet from the top.

The first break came on the south side of the tunnel, and Jack Sheehy yelled, "Bugs! Bugs!" for me to hustle him some bags of sawdust that we always have lying around for breaks. Jack threw two bags into the break, which was about a foot in diameter when it first appeared, but as fast as he stopped the hole up the mud gave away around the edges. Just then the top went out right over my head. I had a bag in my hands and slapped it into the hole. It stuck there for about one second and then went up like a shot, with me hanging on.

I was pinned in with timbers and choking with mud. I stuck in the hole at first, while it was small, and I knew I was going to be a dead one inside the next minute. The air was still keeping the water back, and the four other men had a chance to get out by the back door while I was stopping up the hole. There must have been about half a minute from the time the first break showed.

Then, knowing I couldn't get back, I made up my mind I'd get through the hole if anybody could do it. I pushed and kicked away the timbers and climbed through the hole the best way I could. When I struck the water I swam for the top like a diver. I wasn't unconscious and didn't mind the water, but I wanted to get to the top mighty bad.

There were two men on the dock fishing up lumber out of the water. I swam around for five minutes before they threw me a line. They tried to pull me out, but they weren't strong enough. Pretty soon a policeman came running down the dock and gave them a hand. I took a half hitch around my hand and held on. It almost pulled my arm off.

On the dock the ambulance doctor gave me some whisky, and I threw up stones and mud that I'd swallowed coming up through the river bottom. I wasn't hurt much. The doctor tied this bandage around my head where I got a cut. I wanted to go to work again, but the company sent me home.

Yell of Schoolgirls Prodigy of Words

The young women of the seminary at Pennington, N. J., who are instructed in physical culture under the direction of Miss Earley, have during the past winter become very enthusiastic over basket ball, says a Pennington dispatch to the New York American. They have two leading teams, the Invincibles and the Stars.

The Stars' yell is:

Kick-go-wax, go-wax, go-wax;
Kick-go-wax, go-wax, go-wax;
Hoorah! Hoorah!

We are from a basket ball team called the Stars! Stars!
The Invincibles receive many scars when goals to throw they try;
The Stars all yell, "Oh, my!"
It is just like taking candy from the baby!"

Vacation Work For Minnesota Boys.

Senator O. G. Laugen's bill offering a two dollar reward for killing rattlesnakes was recently recommended for passage by the Minnesota senate committee on agriculture, says the St. Paul Pioneer-Press. The purpose of the bill is to rid the state, especially the southwestern part, of rattlesnakes. It is argued that the bill at the same time will furnish means of employment for boys during the summer vacations. The advocates of the bill say that rattlesnakes are so numerous in the southwestern part of the state that an average boy can make excellent wages hunting them.

Tribute to Jules Verne.

Knowest thou the ship of the Dreamer,
Bound from the harbor of Fancy at night,
Laden with riches that fade in the morning,
Touched with the brilliance that shrinks from the light?
Chartless and rudderless, free to the winds,
Scorning the channel and daring the shoal,
Waking to life all the dead in the waters,
Giving to Nothing the boon of a soul?
Knowest thou the craft of our youthtime,
Sped by the breezes of What Might Be,
Skiing the Islands of Near and Far Land,
Trolling for beams in the sunlit sea,
Signaling ever the argonaut fleet,
That followed her wake to the shores of There,
Guiding the venturesome young in their strong time,
To catch all the trade winds of Do and Dare?
Dead is the skipper that sailed the Dream Ship,
Sewed is the shroud of the captain bold;
Up from the waters ye swept at his bidding.

The mist that arises is dank and cold,
Sadly at last we must turn in our journey,
Groping our way o'er the seas we have tracked,
Sailing in sorrow through breaker and billow,
Back to the mainland of Matter of Fact.

PLEASED THE RUSSIANS.

Emperor William's Visit to Tangier Discussed in St. Petersburg.

St. Petersburg, April 3.—Emperor William's speech at Tangier and prospective developments therefrom cross the attention of the Russian newspapers almost to the exclusion of peace discussion. Her treaty relations with France and the friendly attitude of Germany during the war places Russia in an awkward position. Nevertheless, the difficulties of floating further loans in France and the absence of assistance on which unofficial Russia, at least, had vaguely counted incline the scale somewhat in favor of the western neighbor, whose benevolent neutrality and frontier pledge enabled Russia to place in the field a Manchurian army so well supplied with artillery.

Decided pleasure is also expressed at the rocks encountered by the new Anglo-French entente. The Russ terms the visit of the German emperor to Tangier a demonstration against the entente, and points out that refusal of Emperor William to recognize French pretensions must deeply impress the Moroccans to the disadvantage of both France and Great Britain.

"Expectedly," the Russ says, "a grouping of powers in West Europe has begun, and, perhaps, we are on the eve of great developments in international events."

The Novosti sees in the German emperor's supposed pleasure trips to Jerusalem, Constantinople and Tangier a fixed plan to uphold Turkey in Morocco and create "a Mussulman peril," which is Germany's answer to Great Britain's "yellow peril." The paper expresses the belief that it will result in strengthening the bond between Great Britain and France, and increased armaments, but that there is no possibility of war, since Berlin fully comprehends the madness of a conflict with Great Britain and France allied.

In the discussion of peace prospects several papers refer to the press dispatches, which have been re-telegraphed from New York, laying special stress on the statement that the negotiations were originated by Russia, but avoid any extensive editorial comment.
